The Democracy of Maine in 1849.

The following resolutions were passed by the Legislature of Maine at the Summer session in 1849. They passed the Senate unanimously, and passed the House by ayes and nays, with only two dissentients; both branches were decidedly Democratic. Among those who voted for the resolutions were JOSEPH L. APPLETON and HASKINGS SHRICKLAND of Bangor, and GEORGE P. SEWALL of Old-town (now Thomas, Douglas, Gushing & Co.'s Collector at this port). These resolutions will be noted, proclaim great and permanent principles, and not measures of temporary expediency merely to shift the passing exigencies of the hour. They pour into the future and were designed to pledge the views and the influence of all parties in Maine, to the prohibition of Slavery in all the Territories of the Union through all coming time. Such was the position, and these were the clearly announced principles of both the Whig and Democratic parties at that time. Can any honest Whig or Democrat of to-day, who believed in these principles then, sustain the principles of the Cincinnati platform? Must they not come before the people and say, we only lied to you then, the platform to Sunbury you, we knew that the people were irreparably opposed to the extension of Slavery, and unanimous as we were, ambitious, and willing the honors of office and the plunder of the Treasury, we knew we must pretend to accord with your sentiments upon these questions, or you would condemn us to an inglorious private station, and to work for our support. We were honest enough then, and we are cowards now, because we took that course to get offices and rewards and we got them from this State; but now we have higher game to chase than the fields of Maine offer. We strike for a share of the eighty millions a year, which the General Government bestows upon hirling partisans and jobbing politicians. Mark, then, we are as honest as the times will admit of, and that we are perfectly consistent. And you will please remember, dear people, that political consistency in these stirring times is a jewel of inestimable price. We do therefore most solemnly assert that we think you ought, instead of condemning us, to give us your renewed confidence and thus give support. Such must be the apology of those men who once stood erect upon the platform, restricting slavery, but who now crawl beneath the Cincinnati decretions, upon which stand in lordly supremacy, BROOKS, NORRIS, STEPHENS, HERBERT, DOUGLAS and BUCHANAN.

But to the Resolutions.

Resolved, That we hereby declare for ourselves, and in behalf of the people of this State, our unconquerable opposition to the extension of Slavery into any territory of the United States which is now free.

Resolved, That in organizing governments for New Mexico and California, the introduction and existence of Slavery, in those Territories, should be positively prohibited by act of Congress.

Resolved, That our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested to vote against any act establishing Governments in said Territories, that does not contain an express prohibition of Slavery.

It is an interesting and significant fact that nearly all of the most earnest and eloquent speeches made at the Republican State Convention, in favor of Freedom and Fremont, were by men who last year opposed the Republican party. John Neal, F. O. J. Smith, Joseph Williams, Noah Barker, Gen. Cochrane and Mr. Lebrock were among the number to whom we refer with great pleasure. The stirring addresses of these men thrilled home upon the hearts and consciences of many men, who, like them had opposed the Republican movement, but who now seeing the great crisis, sprung upon the country and intensified by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise between slavery and freedom, and who brought forward with them, from all parties all that was good and true and practical, adapted to the present exigencies, and who are in favor of uniting their efforts to establish Freedom through the instrumentality of the ballot-box.

"A speaker who was heard with thunders of applause at Bangor, would have been received with hisses at Portland in 1855. Such has been the progress of opinion."—Belfast Free Press.

The reference here is to Mason McDonald who voted for the Nebraska bill. The fact stated by our cotemporary is significant and is a warning to the rank and file that if they follow the leaders much longer they will be required to endorse and approve border ruffianism in all its subtleties, and to help shower on the manifest destiny of anti-slavery and popish

The papers in Maine opposed to the Republican cause talk flippantly as to the utmost in the effort to exasperate and swell in their reports the numbers attending their Conventions, and bragging down by the owse possible diminutive the small numbers attending the Republican conventions. There is with them a great amount of downright lying on this subject, and we are greatly at a loss to understand how they can make this sort of statement pay. It is a matter of small consequence in itself said is only especially interesting as showing the state of feeling among the people. We have watched the two simultaneous State Conventions held in this city by the administration party, and the Straight Whig party, and also that held in Portland by the Republicans, and our judgment is that there were many more persons at the Portland Convention than at both the other Conventions. We might estimate the thousands at each, but this would be of little consequence, and as both men might go into hysterics. But for enthusiasm, unity and force, the Republican Convention far surpassed either or both of the other Conventions. It spoved, too, the change in favor of the Republican cause by the attendance of those of mark who had resolved to support the Republican cause, and their tongues for long to hear solely and eloquently spoken by them before the assembled thousands. From all sections of the State the intelligence flowing in of accessions to the Republican ranks. These things show, most unmistakably that the heart of the people are stirred with unwonted energy in the cause of freedom. They feel that the old parties have departed from their former purity and ancestral hatred and are now ruled by the slave power, like clay in the hands of the Potter, and they can follow such leaders no longer. We need not refer to the facts existing in almost if not quite, every town in the State to verify this statement. The numbers and the speakers attending the Portland Convention, as well as the enthusiasm which in effect is, all go to show that the Republicans are in the ascendant in Maine. The result of the elections will show to what extent, whether by a majority of ten or fifteen. And the effort should be, from this day forth to make it the larger number.

How it Appears at the South.

The Atlantic, Georgian and super-despairingly says that "The German press and people of Kansas are supporting Fremont, and the Irish have been won by our democratic brethren, so that the Explorer is likely to get their support. If Fremont will only say he is not a Romanist or a Protestant, he will be considered, every one of a thinking turn, safe for him."

The most important article in Putnam's Magazine for July, is on the present Political Aspect, in which the character of Slavery is shown up with pungent eloquence and weight of reasoning. The independence of the press and its leading its influence to its noble, political position and humanity, we built attempting no party sectional favor by professions of neutrality, can not be too highly commended, and will add greatly to its circumstance in one of the influential forces of the country.

DR. DAVIS' PARSONS.—In Mass. Hon. John A. Bolt, in a speech in the Senate of the United States, in favor of ascertaining and paying certain claims of California, delivered March 7, exploded Col. Fremont as follows:

"In the expedition of those objects, the young and accomplished officer at the head of our troops, Col. Fremont, exhibited a combination of energy, promptitude, sagacity and prudence, which indicated the highest capacity for civil and military command; and, if crowned with what he has done for the cause of science, it has given him a reputation at home and abroad, of which men much older and more experienced than himself might well be proud. That the country will do its duty to his valuable and distinguished services, I entertain not the slightest doubt."

The Bangor Journal of yesterday contains a laudatory letter of "B. F. B." eulogizing that as minister to England, he "belongs by reference in his sermons to the connected with politics, Mr. B. claims to have belonged, to the Baptist church for forty years. It seems odd that if in all that time he has not discovered that slavery a sin, it is about time for him to be born again. It is rumored about town that the consideration proposed to the writer, for his revered jumble of defective sentiments and worse logic, against are able and faithful minister, is this: that he is to be employed by the leaders of the slavery struck Democracy to talk against "abolitionism" and "priests and politicians."

In his new calling Mr. B. need not be troubled with fathering new acts of political order into the pulpit, but can run his whiskers or the sabbath, talking politics with his politics associates on the corners of the streets. If there is to be politics in religion and religion in politics, then we think that the three Rees have chosen the right hives.

FRANKLIN'S HEROISM.—The most contemptible of the whigs within disgrace New York has opened the campaign on behalf of its candidate by referring that Fremont is a Catholic. This is denied, doubtless with good reason; but can anything indicate a meaner, more outrageously pitiful spirit than any attempt to disparage a man on this ground? Why dishonor the billmore org in can be that bear brought into the world by a papist who spells it with an i? What matter who her son may be dealt with—Robinson butcher? Let the Fillmore managers hurry to see how silly and ash how benevolent's odist might! Also, what matter for under—Whether he smokes? Whether he ever crosses his legs or folds his arms? One should be something over in the part of an ass.—N. Y. Herald.

YANKEE IMPROVEMENT AMENDED.—It is reported that at the prize fight at Horse Neck last week when Patrick Rafferty struck Burns, "Paid a fool blow, the latter turned upon him and said "Patrick, you are a Britain." We wonder the result of the fight was not such as to have employed on the fight where the parties professed to be fairly conducted. Let us hope the report be true, for it is to be hoped that Mr. Ford will see the necessity of apologizing the words hastily spoken, and which although they may be retracted, impressions of contempt would be unreasonable, unless "nothing" be accepted. If the manners of Oregonia is to be transferred to the ring, the sooner upright gentlemen of many gentlemen who have formed it are withdrawn.—Providence Journal.

Acceptance by Gen. Fremont of the Republican Nomination.

Gen. Fremont's reply to the letter of the Committee of the Philadelphia Republican Convention, tendering him the nomination for the Presidency is as follows:

NEW YORK, 1856.

GENTLEMEN:—You did me the high responsibility, by placing my name before the great movement of the people of the United States, which, without regard to past differences, are uniting in a common effort to bring back the action of the federal Government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson.

Comprehending the exigencies of the crisis which they have declared themselves willing to place in my hands and deeply regarding it to be my duty which I have no right to decline in this threatening position of the public affairs implies, I feel that I cannot better respond than by a candid declaration that, in the event of my election to the Presidency, I should enter upon the execution of its duties with a single-hearted determination to promote the good of the whole country and to direct my efforts to build up all the powers of the Government, irrespective of party lines, and regardless of sectional strife.

The declaration of principles embodied in the resolves of your convention expresses the sentiments in which I have been educated, and which are the basis upon which I have based my political action. I am, therefore, prepared cheerfully to accept the nomination tendered by you, and to abide by the principles and measures of the platform adopted by your convention.

With this declaration and avowal, I think it necessary to revert to only two of the subjects embraced in these resolutions, and to those only, because events have surrounded them with grave and critical circumstance, and gives to them especial importance. I concur in the views of the Convention expressing the foreign policy to which I adhere. The assumption that it is the right of nations from motives of policy, or because we want them, to go abandonment of the home exclusive which our country has adhered. To prevent hostilities by unjust assumptions would be to sacrifice to peace and tolerance of the country which has instituted civil and religious liberty, and to abject submission by just and healing counsels, how wise and how honorable.

Internal embarrassments, entirely the result of a secret diplomacy, which alone is kept from the knowledge of the people who, by the constitution, are the source of all power, are in conflict with the character of our institutions, and in a self-yielding gradually to almost undisguised public opinion, and to the power of a free Press, which, by its broad dissemination of political intelligence, becomes in advance to the sale of just or unjust judgment of the civilized world. All beyond, first, and above party in our foreign relations would seem to be the highest purpose of the nation, whose deliberate opinion it would be unmanly to reflect.

Nothing is more in the history of our institutions than the desire of the nation to assert its own independence and freedom, to avoid giving countenance to the existence of slavery.

This is the aim of the small but compact and powerful class of men interested in slavery who compound one section of the country, and wield a vast political power in consequence in the others, is now directed to turn back the impress of the revolutions, and reverse its principles. Their decision of slavery is the object of the power which now rules the government, and from this spirit has sprung those kindred agencies in Kansas so bitterly portrayed in the case of your remote body, which proves that the power of the lawless and violent over the law-abiding have not been vanquished by the just liberty of our own.

It would be out of place here to pledge myself to any particular policy that has been suggested to regulate the intercourse between two great and powerful nations operating on a different plane, but held together by a common interest.

A practical measure is the admission of Kansas into the Union as a free state. The South should, in my judgment, be readily met in this demonstration. It would vindicate its good faith in a recent compact, the violation of the repeal, and the North, acting practically the benefit of the agreement between the two sections, would be satisfied, and good feeling be restored. This measure is perfectly consistent with the honor of the South, and vital to its interests. That talented State has been, in a purely political strife, unfortunate in the scheme to take territory from the free labor of the country, secured to it by a solemn covenant, except be too soon disarmed of its perfidious force.

There is a general impression of the middle latitudes left to be the ground, that the Northern States for homes without be conquered from the free laborers who have long occupied it by unequal right to claim our inheritance, without provoking a fearful struggle. Whatever may be the perfidiousness of the peculiar claim which seeks to enslave and appropriate for the purposes of the unjust acts of the last seventy years, I firmly believe that the great heart of the nation, which dwells with the patriotism of the free men in both sections, will have power to overcome it. They will look at the rightfulness and rather by the Constitution of the Union as the best safeguard from the oppression of the class which, by its peculiar wealth and of slave labor, instill it, despite its love, reduce them to the extremity of belonging upon the same terms with the slaves.

The great body of our slaveholding freemen, including those of the highest rank, to whose watchfulness any appeal will disclose, that the power of the general government over the public lands ought to be exerted to advance their favorite aim, secure their independence. Knowing this, their suffrages will not be wanting to maintain that authority in the Union which is absolutely essential to the maintenance of their own liberties, and which has power to be successfully exercised for the purpose of policy of their right to enter into any way would make every soldier upon them a bondsman.

If the People entrust to me the administration of the Government, the laws of Congress in relation to the territories will be faithfully executed. All the authority will be exerted to aid of constitutional will to re-establish the peace in the country on the just principles which have heretofore received the support of the National Government of the States and the People of the several sections. Such a policy would leave no element in the sectional party with which to make an assault by appropriating the new question to excite in the form of slavery, but would apply to it, in the triumph of free labor on the soil of the territories, the real test of it, as a great country, and change it at the ballot box, for the causes above to be reflected as the bulwark of free institutions. To this end I have a right capable of commanding the confidence of the whole country without reference to party, and confident of the intentions which in all parts of the Union, I accept the honorable office of your Convention in the hope that I may be enabled to serve cordially the cause which includes the cause of Constitutional freedom.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
J. C. FREMONT.

A LITTLE SCENE IN THE HOUSE.—During the debate in the House on the Brooks outrage, on Wednesday, the following trifling incident occurred:

Mr. Orr made a laboreal defense of Mr. Brooks, and made an attempt had been made to day to print 100,000 copies of the report on the alleged assault, for circulation purposes.

Mr. Hickman of Pennsylvania, said he voted to print that number, and if the gentleman from South Carolina said he did so for electioneering purposes, it was false.

This term he created considerable disturbing, in the midst of which three men were observed holding Mr. Keitt, who seemed quite willing to be held, while Mr. Buffington of Massachusetts and others cried out him up."

Mr. Hickman was perfectly cool. Quiet was restored, and Mr. Orr finished his speech.

AKNOWING DOG.—A few years ago, notice was taken in the Bohnshire Journal of a dog, then belonging to the late Dr. Elmsley, of Banff, which having been shut into the study," ran the bell that it might be let out. The same dog is now at the house of Burnside, and on Saturday last was shut in the dining-room alone, when Mr. Grant hearing the bell of the room ring, and knowing that there was nobody in it, went, and having opened the door, found "only" seated on a chair, close to the bell, and manifesting signs of marked pleasure when as appeared.

Dame Freedom sent an invitation
To all the states of this great nation,
To meet her each by delegation;
And how and when for a consultation,
And after due deliberation,
Say who should be the man
They'd choose, from out the constellation
Of forsooth, to fill the station
Highest in rank mighty nation,
Who, after full deliberation,
They all joined, without hesitation,
And named Fremont and Dayton.

DAYTON, July 9. The Republican State Convention met at Marshall yesterday, and renominated R. S. Bingham for Governor, and all the present State officers. Nominations in Presidential electors were then announced.

Cheap & Convenient Building.

Door Sash and Blind Factory.

A. DUNBAR

HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames and Sashes, and Blinds, for Dwelling Houses and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season. He has excellent workmen in his employ, and has superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality, either for a whole building or for a less quantity. The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened, by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them in their places in the structural.

This business has now become so well systematized that only a small margin is left in bidding beforehand the cost of a dwelling-house, when the work is of a uniform excellent quality.

Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Head Place, or at the store of M. S. Jackson, on Exchange st., and at either place any article may be obtained in large quantities ordered.

A. Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will hang them as he contract notice.

By long experience, and by determined perseverance, the subscriber is now enabled to sell his manufacture, both in quality and price, and so well organized in the business, that no one should now think of building, to call and examine and ascertain for themselves.

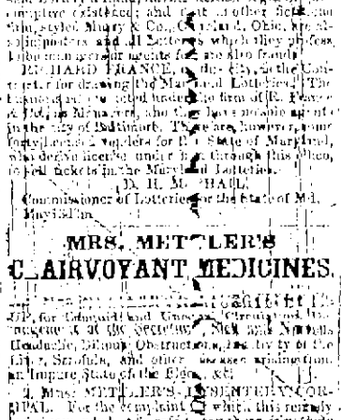
ARNOLD'S COMBINED



FOOT-STOVE LANTERN,

...AND...

NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT NOYES having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention, is now prepared to offer them to the public.

As a FOOT STOVE, it answers an excellent purpose, as it can be sufficiently heated for less than one quarter to warm and drysche feet in the coldest of winter weather, and will be found to be an indispensable article in travelling. It is heated by an oil, alcohol, or fluid lamp, the name of which is published from every testimonial object.

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is less likely to be extinguished or get frozen and can be used as a hand lamp with equal advantage.

As a NURSE LAMP, and in cases of sickness, it is of great advantage in keeping drinks of medicines warm, besides giving the light desired, and for smoking in small quantities. For making tea, &c., it will be found very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a fair heat to the same depth in one.

In fact, the various purposes to which this neat apparatus can be put may be readily conjectured by everyone. No further description is required, as no one can misunderstand its general utility. To say any thing more respecting its adaptability to a number purposes would just be telling what our readers can all see at once for themselves.
